CHAP. 35 .- AN ACT To retrocede the county of Alexandria, in the District of Columbia, to the State of Virginia. Whereas, no more territory ought to be held under the exclusive legislation given to Congress over the District which is the Seat of the Gen. Government than may be necessary and proper for the purposes of such a seat; and whereas, experience hath shown that the portion of the District of Columbia ceded to the United States by the State of Virginia has not been, nor is ever likely to be, necessary for that purpose; and whereas, the State of Virginia, by an act passed on the third day of February, eighteen hundred and forty-six, entitled " An act accepting by the State of Virginia the county of Alexandria, in the District of Columbia, when the same shall be receded by the Congress of the United States," hath signified her willingness to take back the said territory ceded as aforesaid : Therefore-[Sec. 1.] Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled, That, with the assent of the people of the county and town of Alexandria, to be ascertained as hereinafter prescribed, all of that portion of the District of Columbia ceded to the United States by the State of Virginia, and all the rights and jurisdiction therewith ceded over he same, be, and the same are hereby, ceded and forever relinquished to the State of Virginia, in full and absolute right and jurisdiction, as well of soil as of persons residing or eight hundred and thirty-four, to be, in whole twelfth of October, one thousand eight hundred to reside thereon.

OCTOBER.

Solemn, yet beautiful to view Month of my heart! thou dawnest here, With sad and faded leaves to strew The Summer's melancholy bier. The moaning of the winds I hear, As the red sunset dies afar, And bar of purple clouds appear,

Obscuring every western star.

Thou solemn month! I hear thy voice, It tells my soul of other days, When but to live was to rejoice, When earth was lovely to my gaze! Oh visions bright--oh, blessed hours,

Where are their living raptures now ! I ask my spirit's wearied powers-I ask my pale and fevered brow ! I look to Nature, and behold

My life's dim emblems, rustling round, In hues of crimson and gold-The year's dead honors on the ground: And sighing with the winds, I feel, While their low pinions murmur by, How much their sweeping tones reveal

Of life and human destiny.

When Spring's delightsome moments shone, They came in zephyrs from the West: They bore the wood-lark's melting tone, They stirred the blue lake's glassy breast; Though Summer, fainting in the heat, They lingered in the forest shade;

But changed and strengthened now, they beat In storm, o'er mountain, glen, and glade. How like those transports of the breast When life is fresh and joy is new; Soft as the halcyon's downy nest! And transient all as they are true ! They stir the leaves in that bright wreath,

Which Hope about her forehead twines,

Till Grief's hot sighs around it breathe, Then Pleasure's lip its smile resigns. Alas, for Time, and Death, and care, What gloom about our way they fling ! Like clouds in Autumd's gusty air,

The burial-pageant of the Spring, The dreams that each successive year Seemed bathed in hues of brighter pride, At last like withered leaves appear, And sleep in darkness side by side
